

ARTICLE APPEARED
ON PAGE 3A

PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER
19 August 1983

National and International News in Brief

A judge wants government documents on an accused auto maker.

U.S. District Judge Robert Takasugi of Los Angeles has ordered the FBI, the CIA and several other government agencies to surrender documents sought by John Z. De Lorean in his $24 million cocaine case, a court spokesman said yesterday. It was also disclosed that Stephen Arrington, one of De Lorean's former co-defendants, has admitted participating in a separate drug deal that involved the smuggling of 650 pounds of cocaine to California from South America in 1982. De Lorean is to be tried in October on charges that he financed a deal to obtain and distribute 220 pounds of cocaine last year in an effort to save his failing sports car company in Northern Ireland.